KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Joshua Angrist (MIT)

Joshua Angrist is the Ford Professor of Economics at MIT, a director of MIT's School Effectiveness and Inequality Initiative, and a Research Associate at the National Bureau of Economic Research. A dual U.S. and Israeli citizen, he taught at Harvard and the Hebrew University of Jerusalem before coming to MIT in 1996. Angrist received his B.A. from Oberlin College in 1982 and completed his Ph.D. in Economics at Princeton in 1989.

Angrist's research interests include the economics of education and school reform; social programs and the labor market; the effects of immigration, labor market regulation and institutions; and econometric methods for program and policy evaluation. Angrist is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the Econometric Society, and has served on many editorial boards and as a Co-editor of the Journal of Labor Economics. He received an honorary doctorate from the University of St Gallen (Switzerland) in 2007 and is the author (with Steve Pischke) of Mostly Harmless Economics: An Empiricist's Companion and Mastering 'Metrics: The Path from Cause to Effect, both published by Princeton University Press. Angrist and Pischke hope to bring undergraduate econometrics instruction out of the Stones Age.

Inaugural Lecture: Tuesday June 8, 09:15-10:15.

Inside Job or Deep Impact? Extramural Citations and the Influence of Economic Scholarship.

Muriel Niederle (Stanford University)

Professor Niederle is Professor of Economics at Stanford University. Using experimental economics, she has developed a pathbreaking research agenda related to gender issues and matching between organ donors and receivers. She has published her research in the most reputable economic journals such as the American Economic Review, Quarterly Journal of Economics, Review of Economic Studies, Econometrica.

Jean-Jacques Laffont Lecture: Wednesday June 9, 18:00-19:00 – To Be Announced

Valérie Mignon (Université Paris Nanterre) - President of AFSE

Valérie Mignon is Professor of economics at the University of Paris Nanterre, president of the 5th section of the National Council of Universities, scientific advisor to the CEPII, and president of the French Economic Association. Her research focuses primarily on macroeconomics and international finance, oil and energy markets, and econometrics. She has published approximately 100 articles in peer-reviewed journals and several books.

Presidential Lecture (in French): Thursday June 10, 15:15-16:15

Becoming a university professor today: how and what prospects?

INSTRUCTIONS TO PRESENTERS

All presentations should be exclusively in English. Each session is chaired by the presenter of the last paper.

The Chair is in charge of allowing 30 minutes to each paper including the presentation (20-25 minutes) and a general discussion (5-10 minutes).

To facilitate the flow of the conference, participants should ask questions in the chat, and the Chair will collect the questions and ask them after the presentation.

To avoid losing time during the session, we kindly ask presenters to have their slides ready at least 10 minutes before the start of the session, and ensure they are in a PPT or PDF format.

The conference will be host on a Swapcard platform, and all sessions will happen on Zoom. Each session will have its own, specific zoom link.

Technical support will be available throughout the meeting.
